Katherine Ford is a knowledge management lawyer practising out of Hicks Morley's Toronto office. In this role, Katherine is responsible for enhancing the firm's practice efficiencies and knowledge-sharing, both within the firm and with clients.

Prior to joining Hicks Morley, Katherine was the manager of knowledge management with an employer-side labour and employment law firm in Toronto where she had previously practised.

When not keeping current on new and evolving trends in the legal world, Katherine enjoys reading, playing tennis and spending time with her family.

Practice Areas

Employment Law Labour Relations Occupational Health Workplace Safety & Insurance

Memberships & Affiliations

Canadian Association of Counsel to Employers (CACE) – Member

Canadian Bar Association – Member

Ontario Bar Association – Member (Labour & Employment Law, Administrative Law and Constitutional, Civil Liberties and Human Rights)

Select Publications & Presentations

“New Developments in the Past Year: What You Need to Know” Canadian Association of Counsel to Employers: Advocacy Committee Webinar (January 30, 2024)

Co-author, “Practice and Procedure Before the Human Rights Tribunal of Ontario” Carswell (2015 publication)

Education

University of British Columbia, LL.B.

Queen’s University, B.A. (Hons.)