

Glenn Christie, a labour and employment lawyer in Hicks Morley's Waterloo office, provides strategic advice and legal services to a wide range of clients and is known for his practical and proactive approaches to client problems.

Glenn's advocacy practice places him before the courts, arbitrators, the Ontario Labour Relations Board and the Human Rights Tribunal of Ontario. A very experienced negotiator, he has acted as spokesperson in several rounds of high profile, politically sensitive collective bargaining. Governance and other types of organizational support are also an important part of his practice.

Glenn is a leader in providing advice to Police Services Boards on a wide variety of issues, including Police Services Act prosecutions.

Practice Areas

Employment Law Labour Relations Litigation

Industries

Financial Services Healthcare Manufacturing Municipalities & Municipal Agencies Retail & Wholesale Trade Transportation & Warehousing

Awards & Recognition

Best Lawyers in Canada (2020-2021)

Labour and Employment Law

Canadian Legal Lexpert Directory (2019 - 2021)

Labour Relations & Employment Law (Repeatedly Recommended)

Memberships & Affiliations

Canadian Bar Association – Member

Ontario Bar Association – Member

Select Publications & Presentations

“Police Governance – What does it look like now?” Twenty-Sixth Annual Police Employment Conference – Emerging Issues and Legal Developments (February 27 – 28, 2017)

“Police & Emergency Services Bargaining Trends – Parts 1 & 2” 2017 Ontario Association of Fire Chiefs (O AFC) Labour Relations Seminar (January 18 – 19, 2017)

Education

University of Toronto, B.A., LL.B.

York University, M.B.A.